MINERS ENDORSE STEEL STRIKERS

Join Federation of Labor in Support of Amalgamated

FIRST RESPONSE TO GENERAL ORDER

Independent Company Forming to Take Place of Trust Mills Removing From McKeesport. Tomorrow Evening is the Critical Time

Indianapolis, Aug. 10—The executive board of the United miners of America in session here has officially recognized the steel strike.

At noon a resolution was adopted pledging thesupport of the mine workers and calling on President Gompers to call a meeting of the president and secretaries of all bodies connected with the American Federation of labor to meet and devise plans of aiding the strikers.

Pittsburg, Aug. 10—The general strike order of President Shaffer becomes effective today and the army of workmen to which it is addressed are expected to leave work tonight and join the strikers.

While the opposing sides are apparently at the parting of way there is much talk of a settlement.

A strong appeal has been made to Presidents Shaffer and Gompers to throw their influence towards o settlement.

It is not yet known what steps the Federation of labor will take, the officials refusing to discuss the matter.

There is talk on both sides applying to the court for injunctions, but no action has yet been taken.

President Shaffer left early today for New Castle to participate in the great strike demonstration in progress there. He will speak at McKeesport tonight.

The men at the large Riverside iron works, Wheeling, West Virginia, obeyed the order of President Shaffer and struck this morning. This plant has been operated as a non-union mill.

The strike at the Riverside plant of the National tube company came earlier than was expected.

At 2 o'clock this morning, when the men in the plate mill finished their turn, they dropped their tools and announced to the management that they would not be back Monday.

The mill has been operated as a non-union plan and the men have been only recently organized.

There are 610 men employed in the plate mill, but only half of that number were engaged on the turn which finished at 2 o'clock this morning.

It is understood however, that the men on the other shifts will refuse to go to work when the next turn commences.

The strike leaders are greatly pleased and claim that the tieup will be general.

No statement as to the situation is obtainable from the steel officials.

Accurate figures as to the number of men that will obey the general strike order will not be obtainable until tomorrow night.

With the last turn today all the mills will remain closed.

The true test wil be furnished by the number of men who fail to put in an appearance to resume tomorrow night.

Telegrams from McKeesport announce that 150 men today began dismantling the Dewees Wood plant.

Paymaster George Falkenstein of the Dewees Wood plant gave out the following statement today:

"We are now engaged in dismantling the Dewees Wood plant. All the men will be paid off today and the office force will be notified that after two weeks their services will not be required. The employes who will accompany the mill to its new home will be determined by Superintendent Samuel M. Cooper within a few days."

As a counter move an independent plant backed by local business men, is proposed.

The capital is placed at $500,000, of which Enterprise lodge of the Amalgamated association is said to have pledged $80,000.

John W Painter, J. K. Skelly and James S. Kuhn are among those named as promotors of the rival enterprise.

A telegram from Bell Air, Ohio, says that the Amalgamated officials claim to have induced 150 of the skilled men at the Bell Air's works of the National steel company to join the association.

These men will, it is claimed, go out today.

Gompers Pledges Its Moral and Financial Help

Pittsburg, Aug. 10.—The developments in the strike situation yesterday were important. The United States Steel corporation moved decisively in its strike campaign with a peremptory order directing that the great Dewees Wood plant at McKeesport be dismantled and removed to Kiskimenotas valley.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, after a two days' conference with President Shaffer and his associates, issued a formal statement specifically pledging the federation to the moral and financial support of the Amalgamated. His written review of the train of events leading up to the industrial quarrel sustains the course of the Amalgamated association, and declares that nothing remains for labor but to battle for the cause of unionism.

The official announcement of the order to dismantle the Dewees Wood plant came in the afternoon, and its importance was such that it claimed the serious consideration of the men on either side of the great industrial conflict now being waged.

The publication of the order was a surprise, and McKeesport received it at first with doubt. Actual prepar..

Plan to Enter Cape Town and Natal Nipped in the Bud

Lord Kitchener received information some time ago that Dewet intended to attack Cape Town while General Botha was to enter Natal with 5000 horsemen and make for Durban.

The raiders, however, were ejected from the Cope promptly before their plans matured.

TILLY HAYNES DIES IN BOSTON

Noted Proprietor of United States Hotel

Boston, Aug. 10—The Hon. Tilly Haynes, proprietor of the United States hotel here and of the Broadway Central, New York, died here ot 11.25 o'clock this forenoon from a general breaking up of the system.

He was 74 years old.

Tilly Haynes was born in Sudbury, February 13, 1828. He was a lineal descendant of Walter Haynes, one of the founders of Sudbury, and of William Hunt, one of the founders of Concord. When he was two years old, his parents removed to Billerica and there he received his education in the public schools. At the age of 14 he began his business life in a country store in North Reading. Three years later he became a clerk in a store in Lawrence.

He started in business for himself at the age of 21, when he opened a store in Springfield for the sale of men's goods. The business prospered. He engaged in manufacturing, becoming one of the original stockholders of the Indian Orchard mills. With others he built a small button factory in Springfield, manufactured flax machines in Mill River and made sewing machines in Chicopee. He built a music hall and theater in Springfield in 1857. This building was burned in the great fire of 1864, but he replaced it with a larger music hall and the Haynes hotel.

Mr. Haynes took a prominent part in Springfield affairs and in state politics. He served in the first city government of Springfield, in 1852; was a member of the house of representatives for four terms, 1867-70; a state senator for four terms, 1875-1878; and a member of the executive council two terms, druing the administrations of Governors Rice and Talbot. He served on important committees while in the legislature; he was chairman of the committee on the state house in 1869, when the interior o fthe structure was largely reconstructed; he was chairman of the committee on railroads in 1876. Governor Ames appointed him a member of the metropolitan sewer committee commission in 1890.

Mr. Haynes temporarily retired from business in 1876. He sold his hotel and music hall and spent considerable time in travel. He subsequently established himself in Boston and began his career as a hotel manager in 1880, by taking charge of the United States hotel in that city. Under his management the value of the property was considerably increased and the house was enlarged.

He took charge of the old Grand Central hotel in New York in 1892; he reopened it, reconstructed it and modernized it, as the Broadway Central hotel. He has continued to conduct the hotel with success to the present time.

Mr. Haynes married in 1853, Miss Martha C. Eaton of Salisbury. Mrs. Haynes died in 1876. They had no children.

COLUMBIA RACES THE CONSTITUTION

Late Start But Old Boat Pushes Her Rival Hard

Batemans Point, Aug 10—Owing to the thick weather and light wind the race of the Columbia and Constitution was not started until 1 o'clock

The course is 15 miles to windward and return the turning point off Block Island.

The wind was southwest and had increased at the start.

The Columbia crossed the line at 1.01.10 o'clock, the Constitution at 1.01.22.

At 1.19 o'clock the Columbia came up in the wind as if an accident hod happened.

She was then a short distance ahead.

At 1.29 o'clock the Columbia had caught the Constitution and was apparently passing her to the leeward.

The start was a beautiful one for the Columbia as she came down took up a fine position to the weather of the Contitution and in that position the boats crossed the line on the starboard tack going very fast.

The boats were so close that the shadow of the Columbia's club top tail was on the Contitution's main sail.

Immediately after crossing the line the Columbia seemed to point up better than the Constitution and foot just as fast.

Batemans Point,, Aug. 10—When near the turning mark the Columbia was apparently ahead.

Chicago,, Aug 10—The international yachting races started today.

The Canadian boat Invader and the Detroit boat Cadillac, crossed the line at 11 o'clock.

FEDERATION JOINS STRIKERS

tions were made later in the day for the dismantling of the mill, and there is little room for doubt that it will be torn down and taken apart piece by piece. The strikers heard the order in a spirit of defiance. They simply said that it showed that the steel corporation was convinced that it could not reopen the plant in the face of the opposition of the Amalgamated association. Some strike leaders said that the order was a bluff that had been worked unsuccessfully before, and declined to take it seriously.

The Dewees Wood plant was founded about 40 years ago, and is one of the best known works in Pennsylvania. Its yards and buildings cover between 12 and 14 acres; it has employed 1200 men at its busiest times, and its cost is placed at $5,000,000 by officials of the steel corporation.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was at the strike headquarters again yesterday afternoon with Secretary Morrison, and was closeted with the advisory board of the Amalgamated association for more than three hours. Before he left the meeting he gave his promise to support the strike, but it was not until 8 o'clock that he gave out a statement, in which he says:

"Since the arrival of Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor and myself, we have been in almost continual conference with the advisory board of the Amalgamated association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. We made a thorough investigation of the present strike, of its members formerly in the employ of the United States Steel corporation, and its constituent branches; the causes which led to the strike; the present situation of the controversy; and we unhesitatingly declare our judgment that the position of the Amalgamated association is absolutely justified and essential to its continuance and effectiveness as a union of workers in the trade, as well as the protector of the rights and interests of its members.

"It appears that the company took the position it did with an avowal that it would not allow the extension of the union to non-unionists. Such a position and avowal are tantamount to declaring that, notwithstanding the growth of the craft, the organization had reached a status beyond which it could not extend.

"Now, any one at all familiar with industrial development and economic organization, are equally aware that organized labor advances or recedes, but never stands still. It therefore follows that if the trust, by its great wealth, can prevent the extension and growth of the Amalgamated association it encompasses its disintegration and destruction. The only power, then, standing between the trust and workers as a protector are the tender mercies of its directors. Against such a calamity the sense of justice and humanity revolt, and against which we solemnly protest.

"We shall stand by the Amalgamated association in the present conflict to the full extent of our power, both morally and financially; we shall aid in every lawful way the men on strike, or who may come out on strike, to maintain the workers in their right to organize, and the extension of their organization so that the only power which stands for their protection and advancement against the avarice of concentrated wealth may be perfected and perpetuated.

"When the overweening rich combine for avarice, power and tyranny, is it not the duty of the workers to unite for home, justice, right and humanity?

"If the trust should succeed in its purpose to crush the Amalgamated association the victory would be dearly bought.

"The fight of the brave Boers may end in their undoing, but the spirit of justice, the love of freedom and right suddenly looms up in another part of our world. These principals find lodgement in the hearts of other men who will carry on the battle until they are enthroned in the conscience and every day life of all peoples; so with the Amalgamated association, an organization may be defeated in a contest, but it will not be conquered.

"The Amalgamated association will not be crushed; she will not be conquered; she must not even be defeated."

President Gompers would not say just what the Federation of Labor proposed to do, or, in fact, anything beyond what was contained in the written statement issued by him. It is presumed, however, that all of the federation men engaged in the iron and steel trades will be called out with the Amalgamated men.

The general strike order of President Shaffer becomes effective tonight, but in well informed quarters there is still doubt as to the number of men and properties that will be affected by the order. Both sides are making claims as to the non-union mills, and it is well nigh impossible to strike an average on their contentions.

An estimate prepared at Pittsburg says that the National Tube company has 30,000 workmen, the Federal Steel company 18,000, while the National Steel company has 12,000; skilled men now idle, 20,000, and others idle as a result of the strike, 45,000, making a total of 125,000 to be out as a result of an answer to the call.

Fattening the Strike Fund

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 10.—The first consignment of wages from working iron mill employes of Muncie was sent to Pittsburg today to aid the steel workers' strike fund. The four lodges of the Amalgamated association in this city sent about $6000, and about $30,000 will be sent from the gas belt alone. The donors are employes of mills which are not involved in the strike.

Strikers Must Stay Out

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Joseph Carberry of Buffalo, an organizer, sent here by President Keefe of the International Longshoremen's association to try and settle the strike with the Rutland Transit company, was positively refused an audience by President Clements of the Rutland Railroad and Transit company, who said the strikers will not be re-employed by the company upon any conditions."

Strike Leaders Still Missing

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 10.—The members of the Resistencia Cigar Makers' union, whose leaders have been deported by the citizens, are circulating a petition demanding that the case be taken up at once by the Spanish minister at Washington.

Cooks, Waiters and Bakers Out

San Francisco, Aug. 10.—The marine cooks, waiters and bakers walked out yesterday. The steamship owners say they can easily secure men to take the places of the strikers.

An Unaccountable Accident

Buffalo, Aug. 10.—The two rear cars a Pullman observation coach and a parlor car, on a Lehigh Valley express jumped the track and broke loose from the balance of the train at North Leroy yesterday. The parlor car remained on the ties, but the observation car plunged down the embankment. It was badly demolished and six of its occupants were injured, and these not seriously. The railroad authorities cannot account for the accident.

Washington, Aug 10.—The postoffice department has awarded to the Hartford Manufacturing company of Hartford the contract for furnishing all the registered, package, tag, official and dead letter envelopes used by the postal service during the year beginning Oct. 1 next. The contract aggregates over $115,000. The Hartford company was the only bidder.

HAWAII'S FAMILY ROW

HUMPHREYS AT CAPITAL

Prepared to Answer Charges Preferred by the Dole Faction—Judge's Vindication Will Probably Be the Signal For the Dismissal of Dole

Washington, Aug. 10.—The presence here of A. S. Humphreys, the Hawaiian judge, who has come to Washington to answer charges filed against him, revives interest in the disagreeable complications that have long harassed the politics of the Hawaiian islands.

ABRAM S. HUMPHREYS.

Humphreys is the leader of the anti-Dole faction of the American element, and his paper, The Republican, is the organ of that interest. It will be recalled that when the editor of the rival paper, The Advertiser, was indicted for perjury, his counsel offered a petition for change of venue, in which they characterized Judge Humphreys, before whom the editor was to plead, as "a man of inordinate ambition and many personal weaknesses."

Humphreys committed to jail the three lawyers involved for contempt of court. On their way to prison pardons from Governor Dole overtook them. The members of the local bar who belonged to the Dole wing of the party then petitioned for Humphreys' removal, and he is now in Washington backed by strong influence, to answer to charges brought against him.

He explains his connection with the newspaper as that of a financial supporter merely during a period when its publication is unprofitable, and says that since he went on the bench he has sustained no relations towards its editorial policy.

If Judge Humphreys is vindicated, it will probably be the signal for the discontinuance of the service of Governor Dole, against whom charges have also been made. It is alleged that he has neglected his office by long absences in the mountains, and that his plans for a bond issue, had they been approved by the Washington authorities, would have been disastrous.

It is predicted in some quarters that M. M. Estee will succeed him. Estee is a Californian, who went to Honolulu a year ago as a judge, and so by that residence qualified himself under the terms of the organic act to become governor in case the president should see fit to appoint him. He has the strong support of the sugar interests of the Pacific coast. Meanwhile the Dole adherents will not relinquish authority without a struggle.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Only Hesitancy Noted Is Due to Labor Troubles In Steel Business

New York, Aug. 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: There is no complaint from any part of the country over the volume of current distribution of merchandise, and what hesitation is observed in general trade is chiefly due to the uncertainty as to the duration of the labor troubles in the steel manufacture. Collections continue good, better weather has helped the agricultural classes, money is easy, and stocks of merchandise carried are not above the average for this season of the year, particularly in the west and southwest.

Relief is felt in all departments of the iron and steel industry now that uncertainty is ended and the position of the contestants made clear. Structural, wire and plate mills are not affected, and the production of rails will not be materially curtailed. Supplies of bars and tubes will be restricted.

A healthy demand from domestic millers and phenomenal Atlantic exports give strength to prices of wheat. As the season advances it becomes more apparent that foreign crop losses will necessitate unprecedented shipments from the United States.

Eastern shoe manufacturers find conditions as favorable as last week, while reports from the west are more encouraging. Orders from the drought-affected district are no longer countermanded, and earlier cancellations are being restored.

ATTEMPTS TO WRECK TRAIN

Result in the Arrest of an Armenian Living at Boston

Watertown, Mass., Aug. 10.—The Watertown police, with the assistance of Boston officers, succeeded last night in locating a man wanted for two alleged attempts to wreck a train on the Fitchburg railroad at East Watertown. As the result of their investigation, Thomas Maloog, 25 years old, an Armenian, residing at Boston, was arrested last evening by officers from Boston and turned over to Railroad Officer Bradley.

The first attempt to derail a train, it is alleged, was made on Thursday of last week, when a heavy log was placed across the rails, at a point in East Watertown. The obstruction was discovered in time by two boys, who removed it, and later reported the matter to the police.

The second attempt was made a week ago yesterday, near the same point and by a similar method. This time an accident was avoided only by prompt action on the part of the engineer of a train from Boston. He discovered the log on the track and brought his train to a standstill with difficulty. On reaching Watertown the engineer reported the attempt to derail the train. The police commenced an investigation, and suspicion was attached to Maloog.

Hotels and clubs have all closed their bars and the city is dry.

COMPLICATED MUDDLE

Colombia and Venezuela on Verge of War

WASHINGTON IN THE DARK

As to the Exact Situation on the Isthmus of Panama—Ample Force Will Be Sent There, However, If Circumstances Appear to Warrant It

Washington, Aug. 10.—The situation in Colombia and Venezuela continues to occupy much of the attention of officials here, and, while it is not felt that affairs have reached a serious aspect, yet it is appreciated that both the official and unofficial advices indicate a condition of affairs which may mean war between Colombia and Venezuela, complicated by revolutionary outbreaks in both countries.

The state department yesterday received a rather lengthy mail communication from Consul General Gudger at Panama, and, though this was dated a month ago, it told of the landing of a revolutionary expedition, and expressed the current belief held at Panama that this would be followed by other expeditions The department also received a letter from J. E. Simmons of New York, president of the Pan-American railroad, confirming his previous communication relative to the trouble on the isthmus, and stating that the superintendent of the road had advised him as to the depredations of an insurgent band, which did not number, however, much over 50 men.

The more serious aspect of the matter was presented in the press dispatches from Willemstadt, stating that the Colombians again had invaded Venezuela. There was no official confirmation as to this, but, if it should prove true, there seems to little chance of avoiding an open conflict between these two countries, as such invasion by Colombia would be, in itself, a act of war. But Washington authorities prefer to take a conservative view of the situation until official advices are in hand.

When inquiry was made as to why our officials at Bogota and elsewhere did not send full information on the subject, it was stated that these officials were not there to communicate the news, but only to advise this government as preliminary to any official action which might become necessary.

At the navy department no further steps were taken toward sending ships to the isthmus. It was decided definitely, however, to send the battleship Wisconsin down to San Diego, Cal., in case the desirability of that move became evident by the time she reached San Francisco, and the state department was so advised. There was some comment also as to the possibility of sending down some of the ships of the North Atlantic squadron, but Acting Secretary Hackett treated these suggestions as rather premature. There is no doubt, however, that an ample force will be sent from the squadron if its presence seems desirable.

The Colombian legation has no news to confirm the press report of a new Colombian invasion of Venezuela. As far as known, neither of the governments involved has addressed the United States government concerning the troubles on the isthmus, nor has there been any occasion for this government to address either of them in reference to the difficulty.

If traffic on the isthmus should be stopped, it probably would bring about an inquiry by the United States government to the government of Colombia as to the ability of the latter to cope with the situation, for the primary duty is to Colombia, and only when she fails will the United States step in.

More Troops Near Colon

Willemstad, Curacoa, Aug 10.—The Venezuelan government announces that a new Colombian invasion occurred on Thursday near Colon. The invading force is commanded by the Colombian minister of war.

Instructions to Rebels

New York, Aug. 10—Dr. A. J Restrepo, diplomatic representative in this city of the Colombian revolutionists, and their legal adviser, sent a communication yesterday to the revolutionary generals who are operating in the department of Panama, directing them not to allow their forces to interfere with the railroad or the traffic at the isthmus. A copy of the communication was sent to the state department at Washington. He insists that no attack upon either Colon or Panama is at present intended by the liberal forces.

A Merchant's Business Standing

How is judgment often based?

We mean by strangers, or those who have not a personal acquaintance or access to the store. Ask yourself the question. Try to answer it. Would you not often judge it from his stationery? Certainly you would. Look over your business correspondence and you will readily see that the representative houses you deal with use great care to have their stationery just so. Neat, plain, rich and forceful is their style.

How About Your Own Stationery?

Is it all that you desire? If it went among strangers would it do your business credit?

I know not what record of sin awaits me in the other world; but this I do know, that I never was so mean as to despise a man because he was poor, because he was ignorant, or because he was black.

ADVERTISERS in the Transcript are the best business men in the community. Their advertisements are worth reading and they are the firms with whom to trade most advantageously.

TILLY HAYNES

The death of Tilly Haynes removes one of the most picturesque characters from the hotel world. It will be deeply regretted in this section, where Mr. Haynes was well known and had many warm friends.

NOT JUST YET

In the neighborhood of Pittsfield and North Adams, Mass, the citizens are massing for the purpose of securing legislation that will require the sheriffs to put their prisoners at work on the roads. It has been discovered that the houses of correction, another name for the jails of the empire state, are asylums for indolent fellows who commit crime that they may be sent to the places the counties of the commonwealth have provided for the confinement of the lawless. Once there they are well cared for, as in New York state, and the taxpayers must foot the bills. It is not a pleasant thing to contemplate and the people of Massachusetts are tired of the picture.—Troy Record.

The Record has heard some fool rumor or has been reading the childish output of some fool brain. The Transcript has picked up at least a speaking acquaintance with North Adams and it has not yet come to our knowledge that the people are massing to secure prison labor to build their highways. North Adams, and Pittsfield, we are sure, will continue to build their roads with honest workingmen, despite the twaddle of the silly theorist who is almost enough of a bore to be in jail himself and is not enough of a man to do a fair day's work.

MISTRESS AND MAID

The national servant girls' union has prepared and is circulating throughout the country the following rules and regulations to govern the relations of mistress and servant:

"Work shall not begin before 5 a m and shall cease when the evening dishes are washed and put away. Two hours each afternoon and the entire evening at least twice a week shall be allowed the domestic as her own

"There shall be no opposition on the part of the mistress to club life on the part of the domestic. Entertainment of friends in limited numbers shall not be prohibited, provided the domestic furnishes her own refreshments.

Gentleman friends shall not be barred from the kitchen or back porch. Members of the family of the house shall not interrupt the conversation arising during said visit.

"Domestics shall be allowed such hours off on Monday as will permit them to visit the bargain counters of the stores and enjoy that day the same privileges enjoyed by the mistress.

All complaints shall be made to the business agent of the union. The question of wages shall be settled at time of employment and no reduction shall be allowed."

A scale of wages has not been forgotten. The wages specified are: Cooks and housekeepers, $5 to $7 a week; general and second girls, $4 to $5 a week; young and inexperienced girls, $3 to $4 a week.

Club life, the exclusiveness of the kitchen and back porch for the gentlemen friends, entertainment of friends when the larder is not called upon to stand the strain and the sacred right to enjoy the excitement of the bargain counter stamp these rules and regulations as unquestionably feminine. We suggest that the progressive politician make note of those rules and regulations, for, when women's suffrage is a fact universal, state platforms will stand or crumble as they recognize and pledge these rules and regulations.

The bargain counter privilege with the dry goods trade of the country behind it may yet decide a presidential election and the fate of our colonies.—

STEEL STRIKE SURPRISES

President Gompers of the American federation of labor has, after long deliberation, thrown his influence with the Amalgamated association in its contest with the steel trust. Mr. Gompers made his official announcement last night, regarding which President Shaffer said that it would be worth as much to the Amalgamated as the Morgan $200,000,000 strike fund would be to the trust. The existence of this vast fund is not proven. However, the Federation's help is the greatest assistance the Amalgamated could get, and, if the Amalgamated cannot now win it will be no fault of its brethren in arms.

The Knights of labor come to the assistance of the steel strikers in an unexpected way. They propose to call upon United States Attorney-General Knox to enforce the anti-trust laws against the steel combine. The famous ex-AttorneyGeneral Monnett of Ohio has been retained and promises to make as fierce a fight against the steel corporation as he did against the Standard oil when he was Ohio's attorney-general. Since a large number of the corporation's mills are in Ohio, Mr. Monnett becomes a serious opponent of the combine. Mr. Monnett tells the Knights of labor that in this move they have the correct idea. He says the trust can be driven from Ohio, that they can be reached right now both criminally and civilly and that "we can fill the jails with violators of the anti-trust law as rapidly as they can jail workingmen for contempt."

The steel corporation itself has not been idle. Yesterday it sprung a surprise in a daring move. The American sheet steel company ordered yesterday that the Dewes Wood mill at McKeesport be torn down and the plant removed to Vandergift. The national tube works people are discussing the advisability of moving their mills from McKeesport to Conneaut, Ohio. These mills are the mainstay of McKeesport and their removal means ruin for the city. The mills employ about 15,000 people in McKeesport, whose population is only 34,000. The Dewes Wood plant cost $6,000,000 and the tube company's plant $10,000,000 and was capitalized in the trust at $17,000,000. In carrying out the proposition to raze these mills the trust will show its determination by practically throwing away property of the value of $20,000,000. This is astounding. In addition to these the American steel hoop company is considering the removal of its gigantic plant from Youngstown, Ohio to the vicinity of Pittsburg.

The purpose of these demolitions and removals is to take the works from the centres of organized labor to localities where it is expected labor will not be so powerful. It would seem that the purpose, in time, will be foiled. The mills can never be taken away from labor and wherever labor goes organization will follow. At best this plan of flitting can do no more than give temporary exemption from the demands of organized labor. It is not a plan that will become generally adopted. It is far easier for unionism to follow the mills than it is for the mills to keep on the move.

The issue between capital and labor must be settled some other way.

ENCOURAGING CRIME

The slick fellows who stole the gold bars worth $280,000 from the vault of the smelting works in California ought to be caught, if for no other reason than to break the run of successful escapes which of late has rendered the record of crime somewhat remarkable. Where is Pat Crowe, the kidnapper? Nobody knows. Where is Blondin? Nobody knows. Who killed May Fosburgh? Nobody knows. Where are the murderers of the farmer's family in Brookfield and the Reeds of North Adams? Nobody knows. It were superfluous to say that all these escapes of criminals in notorious cases tend to encourage crime. Are there more of such escapes than there ought to be? At least there are enough of them to attract attention—Springfield Republican.

To be sure these escapes tend to encourage crime. And a thing that encourages crime as much as such escapes is the senseless assualts upon officers who fail after doing all in their power and the best within their judgment to trace crime to its source. Take the Fosburgh case for example.

No one has any reason in the world to find fault with the outcome of the Fosburgh trial. It was in justice according to the evidence. But consider the abuse of Nicholson as an encouragement to escapes and to crime.

There is not a chief of police in the land who has not been made more timid by this abuse and more reluctant to push a case. The government seldom or never goes to trial having knowledge that the facts in its possession cannot fail to secure conviction, and if the people are to demand the complete elimination of doubt before the officers proceed in the direction of the courts many criminals will go unchallenged and many crimes go unpunished. If mistakes and failure to convict are to be followed by boundless denunciation, officers of the law will be inclined to take the course that involves the smallest amount of risk. It will be safer under such conditions, to place a crime in the list of mysteries than to pursue the person against whom weighs the only findable evidence of guilt in the judgment of the officers. He would be a courageous chief of police who would in this county, or in all of Massachusetts, make any public move against a person suspected of murder unless he had absolute proof of the person's guilt in his hands.

Now, place the very evident truth of this alongside of the fact that in many murder cases the most important evidence is secured after the arrest has been made, and it will be clear how the abuse of Nicholson has operated to the encouragement of crime, or to the protection of the criminal, which is the same thing. Many times the right arrest is made in connection with a murder when there is little more than a bare suspicion in the minds of the officers, the evidence all coming afterwards. Mary Smith may know a circumstance that will connect John Jones with a murder, but Mary Smith will never think of it until John Jones is arrested, accused of the murder. Then she will remember that on the night of the crime she saw John Jones in a certain place at a certain hour and this circumstance may be most valuable to the officers and the government.

Of course no officer of the law is to be put beyond just and reasonable criticism, nor is any officer to go about recklessly casting people into prison—there are no such officers anyway—but, on the other hand, it is very unwise to wantonly assault the officers who make mistakes or who fail to convict for want of evidence. Mistakes in judgment happen in the careers of the most careful men, from which officers are not to be considered as exempt, and many an officer knows, as those closely associated with him know, that he fails at times to convict, not because he has the wrong person in court, but because it is impossible, for one reason or another, to get the evidence to remove the reasonable doubt.

The Village Rubber Smith

Under a spreading blacksmith sign
The village blacksmith sat;
He heard the chuf-chuf-chuf and said:
"Where is my business at?
The road is full of horseless things,
And bikes and such as that."

The smith was deeply in the dumps;
Ah! that was plain to see.
His wink-eye winked a knowing wink
Up at the chestnut tree;
And then he said: "These horseless things
Have put a horse on me."

And through his crisp and curly hair
His sinewy hand he ran.
Says he: "I'll get some different tools.
As well as any man
I'll mend a punctured rubber tire—
I'll change what'er I can."

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
His bellows blows no fires,
Instead it feeds a rubber tube
That blows up rubber tires.
He has a tank of gasoline,
And cement, pipes and wires.

And children coming home from school
Rubber in the open door
They rubber at the rubber tube
A-rubbering 'round the floor.
They rubber at the rubbersmith
Who rubbers tires that tore.

He can't go, Sunday to the church,
For that's his busy day.
Some city chauffer's in the truch,
And here is work—and pay.
The chauffer buys some gasoline
And chuff-chuffs on his way.

But never mind, his daughter's there,
Up in the choir stand;
And as she holds the hymn book high
Shows diamonds on each hand;
For daughter's buying jewelry
And dad is buying land.

Repairing and pumping and mending,
Onward through life he goes,
Each morning sees some tire break,
Each evening sees it close.
Something mended, somebody done,
Puts money in his clothes.

Thanks thanks to thee, my worthy friend,
On the lesson I'll meditate.
All must at times get different tools,
This world will never wait;
If we would live the strenuous life
We must keep up to date.

DECISIONS IN LAW.

The Kentucky court of appeals decides to be void as against public policy the assignment by a public officer of his salary in advance of earning it.

A Baltimore court has decided that an owner of property has no right to an injunction restraining the erection of a telephone pole on the sidewalk adjoining his property.

The court in Iowa has held that a statute making it unlawful to add water or any other substance to milk that is intended for sale is constitutional, even if the substances added are not injurious or used with intent to defraud, but are merely for the purpose of preserving the milk.

The wrongful dishonor by a bank of the checks of a trader is held in J. M. James & Co. versus Continental National bank (Tenn.), 51 L. R. A. 255, to raise a conclusive presumption of damages to him, but an action therefor is held not to be an action for slander within the meaning of a statute of limitation.

POWDER AND BALL.

Within 12 months the greatest naval magazine station in this country, which is in course of construction on Iona island, near Peekskill, will have been completed.

At a recent trial at Portsmouth, England, the gunners managed to fire one projectile of 850 pounds every 24 seconds from a 12 inch 50 ton gun supplied with a new breech mechanism.

Portugal's new compulsory military service calls for three years in the active army, five in the first reserve and seven in the second reserve. First reserve service calls for a month's training every year.

STRONG NAVY NEEDED.

Naval Officer Claims National Sovereignty Depends on It.

QUESTION OF STRENGTH IN SHIPS.

We Must Give Up Monroe Doctrine or Increase the Navy, Says Commander J. B. Murdock—Protection of the Interoceanic Canal a Question Solely of Naval Power.

"Our navy will probably be strong enough in 1905 to enable the foreign policy of our government to be carried into effect, but not in 1908 unless further increased. It seems as though the country were confronted with two alternatives. One is to give up the Monroe doctrine and all plans for controlling an interoceanic canal, the other to increase our armored fleet at a minimum rate of four vessels annually, with proportional increase of personnel."

Commander J. B. Murdock of the navy thus closes an article on America's need of fighting ships, which is published in the current number of the Proceedings of the Naval Institute. The article is of importance because Commander Murdock makes it plain that the nation which he personally believes the United States will next fight is Germany, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald.

The theater of future warfare between the great powers, he says, will be the entire world. Military campaigns will be carried on, but except on the continent of Europe, where large populations are in close contact, it will be impossible to assemble and operate the large armies characterizing the warfare of the last century. Commander Murdock asserts that the United States should drop the old idea that the sea separates us from other powers. He declares it brings us into contact with them. This international highway, while nominally free to all, is in reality reserved to the strongest, and the question of strength is purely naval.

"The events of the last decade," Commander Murdock goes on, "have made the United States a world power in spite of itself. Our navy, which formerly had only to protect our coasts from naval attack, is now charged with the vastly more difficult task of keeping open the communication between isolated areas of American territory. As the battle of Manila decided the destiny of the Philippines and that of Santiago made the loss of Cuba and Porto Rico a certainty to Spain, so a like reverse to our navy in a future war might cause a transfer of any of our outlying possessions to some other power. In such cases military strength is but weakness and the navy becomes the real support of national sovereignty."

Commander Murdock emphasizes the important place the Monroe doctrine holds in America's foreign policy. He quotes the London Spectator's declaration that the German emperor wants a fleet in order that when he puts his South American policy into operation he will not be made ridiculous by an order from Washington, and that he believes that when he occupies the Rio Grande do Sul the Americans will waive the Monroe doctrine if his fleet is equal to or stronger than theirs. Touching the interoceanic canal, Commander Murdock says there is unquestionably a widespread conviction that the United States has a greater interest in the canal than any other nation and should therefore "control" it.

Commander Murdock believes the United States has fought its last fight with Great Britain. The United States is, however, liable to have trouble from one reason or another with almost any of the powers and must consider war as a possible result. It is therefore important that we should have not numerical but fighting strength. He opposes the installation of six inch in place of the eight inch guns on the new battleships, and he calls the armored cruisers of the Maryland class and the protected cruisers of the St. Louis class defective in fighting strength. However useful battle cruisers may be, they cannot rank in actual warfare higher than battleships of the second class, and there must be enough battleships built to meet our requirements for a powerful navy.

The German scheme of construction is an admirable one. Unless Germany is to gain supremacy on the ocean, other nations, the United States included, must build steadily. An average yearly increase of two battleships and one battle cruiser to the navy will preserve America's relative standing while two battleships and two battle cruisers or three battleships and one battle cruiser laid down each year will keep her ahead in fighting strength.

"If we do not build," Commander Murdock says, "we must, of course, accept any consequences that our naval inferiority may bring upon us."

Chinese and Cigarettes.

The Chinese have conceived a passion for civilization in the shape of cigarettes. These are now imported largely, special favor being shown to American cigarettes because the packets usually contain portraits of fascinating ladies. These are exhibited for sale at shops where the merchandise consists chiefly of articles of religious worship.

FOWLS AND THEIR FRUIT.

Avoid stale eggs by gathering them regularly every day.

The too fat hen is usually the one that is laying the soft shelled egg.

In selecting hens choose good layers of fair size, vigorous constitutions, even color and symmetrical form.

Feeding the young chicks ground bone will assist the growth and development of bone in chickens and in a measure prevent leg weakness.

Watery eyes of poultry, pigeons and cage birds can be relieved by bathing them twice a day with 5 grains of sulphate of zinc and 5 grains of powdered opium in 10 ounces of distilled water.

If the chicks begin to droop, examine their heads for long lice. A good remedy that will always destroy the vermin is olive oil and kerosene oil mixed in equal parts. Apply it with a feather.

"Say, Eva, I am going to have a party in honor of my friend, Miss Jessie. I don't know how to go about it; will you help me?"

"Certainly, I will, but why not talk with Caterer McNeill? He will make suggestions you never thought of, and he is always getting up something new. His fancy assorted cake is elegant and his Philadelphia Ice Cream is simply delicious. You cannot entertain nowadays without a first-class caterer. Let's go and see."

RENEWING HIS YOUTH

Peter McDarby Celebrates 100th Birthday by Saying He Will Walk Again

Peter McDarby, the story of whose life was told in yesterday's Transcript, is celebrating his 100th birthday very quietly. The old man says that this is the happiest day he has spent for a long time and he appears far brighter than usual.

One of Mr. McDarby's visitors today can testify that the old man has not lost all the strength acquired in his long years of wood sawing for in shaking hands the centennarian gave him a grip that was actually painful.

It was planned to take Mr. McDarby on a little drive around the city today but at the last moment he decided that he didn't want to go, saying it was too much trouble to get up and down stairs. He is receiving many visits from his friends, however, and would be glad to see anyone who cares to call.

So many friends have told Mr. McDarby that he has many years yet to live that he is beginning to feel quite young again. Today he called for his crutches and said he believed he had been lying down for the past two years merely through laziness and beginning tomorrow he would learn to walk.

WALKING TO NEW YORK

Williamstown Runaway Supposed To Have Been Found On Route

A New York dispatch today says:

Rev. Salem D. Towne of Williamstown, Mass., reports to the New York police that his son Edward, 15, with a boy named Earl Eaton, ran away a week ago and may have come to this city, He asks that detectives find him. Rev. Mr. Towne is proprietor of the Ingraham printing and publishing company. He says his son and young Eaton had planned to "tramp" to New York.

As is reported under Williamstown news today Mr. Eaton says the boys have been found, but would not say where.

Reception to Former Residents

Miss Grace Delle Davis of Holbrook street is entertaining for two weeks Miss Effie M. Holbrook of Cleveland, Ohio and Miss Ethel B. Smith of Hyde Park, Mass. The Misses Holbrook, who formerly lived in this city, are visiting here for the first time in ten years. Miss Minnie Holbrook is the guest of Mrs. Edward Rosston of Center street.

Yesterday Miss Davis entertained eight young women with an informal afternoon. Music and readings were a feature of the entertainment and at 5.30 a dainty repast was served. Covers were laid for nine, there being a small guest who attracted much attention, Master Fred Forest Dowlin, Jr., the two year old son of Lawyer Dowlin. Master Dowlin gave the signal for the guests to adjourn to the dining room, himself leading the way and assigning the seats. The guests were the Misses Holbrook, Miss Smith, Mrs. Edward Rosston, Mrs. Fred Forest Dowlin and son, Mrs. C. Harold Isbell and Miss Elizabeth Mitchell.

This afternoon Mrs. Isbell gives an informal whist at which the Misses Holbrook will meet many of their old friends.

Miss Effie Holbrook is a soprano singer of note, and with Miss Davis may give an informal recital here.

One Nine Hour Day City Job

There are at the present time eight lines of sewers being constructed by the public works department of the city. In connection with the claim of the building trades council that the eight hour day is being violated, as published in yesterday's Transcript, Commissioner Temple said today that one of these eight lines was being built by a contractor. This is being done by Lally & Co and the men are working nine hours. The men on all the other city work are working only eight hours.

Electric Lamps Smashed

The electric light company reports that it is having trouble in maitaining the light in the covered bridge at Greylock and the last light in the Beaver. Both of these have been repeatedly broken, apparently by the throwing of stones, and after replacing the broken lamp several times within a few days the company has notified the city that it will be impossible to maintain these lights unless some measure is taken by the police to stop the destruction of the lamps.

Children Hurt by Falls

Leo, the three years old son of Laurence Smith of 94 Furnace street, fell from a stone wall on Furnace street yesterday afternoon and broke one bone in his forearm.

Elizabeth, the 15 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Secor of 16 Marshall street tumbled off the steps yesterday afternoon and fractured her collar bone. Dr. McGrath attended both cases.

OBITUARY

Robert H. Graham

Robert H. Graham, 21 years old, died at his home, 504 Union street, this morning, after an illness of about nine months. He was born in West Hebron N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Graham, and had lived in this city most of his life. He was until the time of his sickness, employed in McNeill's store on Eagle street, and was an efficient clerk. He was a young man of good character and habits and his early death is a sad blow to his relatives and friends.

He leaves besides his parents, a brother, Willie, and five sisters, Jennie, Ella, Mattie, Alice and Florence. The funeral will be from the house at 8.30 Monday morning and Rev. W. L Tenney will officiate. Burial will be in Hebron, N. Y.

BOY RODE INTO TEAM

Serious Collision Last Evening On the State Road

Carl Ashton, 10 years old, of 368 North Eagle street, was badly injured last evening in a collision on the state road, a short distance west of the brickyard in Williamstown. Ashton was one of a party who were riding bicycles. He was the last one of the party and as he was turning the slight curve at the top of the rise there he rode into a team driven by two young men. His handle bar struck the right thill of the wagon and he was thrown under the wheels which passed over his body. He was also severely cut and bruised.

Fortunately Dr. R. D. Canedy was driving by just at the time being on a drive to Williamstown with his family. He ran to the aid of the boy and after doing what was possible there, he placed the lad in his carriage and drove him to this city, dressing the wounds more carefully after arriving at his office.

A bad gash was cut in the boy's right leg, one finger of his left hand was split, his left arm was wrenched and he was covered with bruises.

Today the boy was doing well and will probably recover without serious consequences.

The wheel he was riding was completely smashed, and one thill of the team with which he collided was broken. No other damage was done.

Collision on State Street

Messrs Geary & Bourgeous of the Marshall street blacksmith shop were driving towards Adams last evening when they were run into by two men driving from Adams. Two wheels of their carriage were broken but they were uninjured. The Adams police today located the two men from there, who will probably settle.

THE WHIRL OF FASHION.

Grass linen, especially the patterned fabric, is likely to hold a prominent position among gowns worn until September is past.

Black, plumb red, amethyst and golden brown velvets will be in great use for autumn and winter dress trimmings and elegant millinery.

Very elegant patterns of real venetian lace, with colored designs in shaded embroidery introduced among the filmy meshes of the lace, are the height of fashion.

Broad brimmed hats of black neapolitan braid swathed with black point d'esprit and relieved with white orchids and roses are very fashionably worn with black, black and white and all white toilets severally.

The taste for all white gowns extends even to cycling costumes, white mohair or English serge models stitched with silk and trimmed with very narrow braid appearing among the latest summer creations from noted French designers.

Vivid scarlet, cream white, old rose, pale turquoise blue and golden brown satin ribbon severally, from three to five inches in width, arranged in choux or medium high loops, are seen upon some of the latest round hats, showing no other additional trimming of flowers or foliage.—New York Post.

A Choice of Three Things.

Australian judges make jokes that would hardly pass muster in Great Britain, says an English paper. One of them recently going the circuit arrived at a town where a clean charge sheet was presented for his acceptance, accompanied, of course, with the inevitable pair of white gloves. Having accepted the gift, he returned thanks in these terms:

"This proves that either the district possesses an unusually high standard of morality or that there is nothing in it worth stealing or that the police are not active enough to catch criminals."

Leaving his hearers in doubt as to which of the three alternatives he personally favored, the judge smiled sweetly at the local head of the police force and retired from the bench.

Animals and Pain.

A correspondent furnishes some curious instances of the apparent lack of highly developed powers of feeling pain in animals. He has, he says, seen a sparrow, shot flying, fall to the ground and in less than two minutes begin picking up grains that happened to be lying near it. On another occasion a tame rabbit was deprived by a spaniel of its tail, bone and all. It took not the slightest notice of its loss and began feeding again directly it returned to its hutch.

COUNTERFEIT BILLS.

An Easy Method by Which They May Be Detected.

"Talking of counterfeiters puts me in mind of one, a notorious rascal, who was caught not long ago in this city while at his nefarious trade," said the ex-treasury official. "The paper money this man produced was absolutely perfect in every detail but one thing, and it seems strange that a man of his knowledge and experience of the art of counterfeiting should not have known it."

Here the treasury official took a $1 bill from his pocket. It was new and crisp, and he pointed out a diminutive letter C on the right under the bill's number and another down in the other corner.

"Now," he continued, "I don't suppose there are ten men in a hundred outside the treasury department who know that these seemingly unnecessary letters are on United States bills. And even if they had noticed them I am willing to bet that not one of them could tell what they signify."

Handing another bill to the reporter, the ex-treasury man asked him to read the last four figures. They were 5,321. The treasury man said almost instantly, "The letter on that bill is A," which was correct.

Half a dozen other bills were produced, and when the treasury man was told the last four figures of their numbers he was able to tell, with lightning rapidity, what letter would be found on each bill. In each case the letter was either A, B, C or D.

"The explanation is simple," said he. "If you take the last four figures of the number on any bill, no matter what its denomination, and divide them by four, you will have a remainder of 0, 1, 2 or 3. If the remainder is zero, the letter on the bill will be D. If it is 1, the letter will be A; if it is 2, the letter will be B, and if it is 3 the letter will be C.

"This is one of the many precautions taken by the government against counterfeiters. You can tell instantly whether a bill is bad or good by making that test. I wouldn't give a 5 cent piece for a $1,000 bill, no matter how perfect it seemed, if its little letters did not correspond with the remainder obtained by dividing the last four figures of its number by 4."

WRITERS AND PAINTERS.

Miss Beatrice Harraden sold the copyright of "Ships That Pass In the Night" for $100, having no idea that the book would be successful.

Edwin Abbey was painting in London for ten years before he had a picture hung in the academy and began his work as a newspaper illustrator.

Sarah Grand was 14 years old before she went to school. She made up for lost time afterward in most things, but never learned the art of penmanship.

Mark Twain, replying to an inquiring citizen of Chicago, wrote that the original of the Doctor in "The Innocents Abroad" was Dr. A. Reeves Jackson, one of Chicago's most prominent citizens, who died in 1892.

Ibsen's start as a dramatist was made early in life when he began, in his teens, the study of medicine. He then chanced to read "Salhest" and was so taken with the character of Catiline that he wrote a play introducing him.

Longfellow was one of the poets of the last century to whom the making of speeches was a terror. In a letter in the Arnold collection he says of the first speech he ever made: "It shall be the last. It was only an inch long, but while impending it cast a shadow over my life for three days."

A "Saint Sebastian" by Titian and a portrait of the Archduchess Eleanora of Austria, queen of Hungary, by Velasquez have been discovered in Gorizia, between Venice and Triest. Professor Cantalamessa, director of the Venice art museums, is sure that the Titian is genuine and declares it a masterpiece.

Natural Curiosity.

There are bad bargains that we remember, sometimes with regret and often a little bitter amusement. Says Mrs. E. D. Gillespie in her "Book of Remembrance:"

My father had taken some land in Illinois for a bad debt, and this he had never visited. After he had paid taxes on it for several years he was asked to sell the tract. He agreed to do it and named the price, which was the sum he had paid for it without the taxes.

The deeds were scarcely signed when my father found that a city, Peoria, was growing up on the spot. He was naturally disappointed at what seemed the ill luck of the occurrence, but several years after his annoyance was tinged with amusement. A man came to his office and asked:

"Are you W. J. Duane?"

"Yes."

"Did you own the site of the city of Peoria?"

"Yes."

"Did you sell it for $600?"

"Yes."

The man rose from his chair.

"Good by," said he. "I only thought I'd like to look at you"

WILLIAMSTOWN

WANTED TO BE ARRESTED

Then He Wanted the Judge to Discharge Him, But Judge Refused

Fred Wisher who said he was a North Adams barber, walked a long distance and woke Constable Taylor early yesterday morning all for the purpose of being arrested. He was accommodated by the officer and marched to the lockup. When the officer appeared yesterday afternoon to take him before the court he showed surprise and said that he supposed he would be allowed to proceed on his way when morning came, but the officers reasoned differently and charged Wisher with drunkeness. When asked by the judge what he would like the court to do with him, Wisher said he wanted to be discharged and allowed to go. Again he found Williamstown opinions different than his own, for a fine was imposed upon him. He was given one week to meet the amount, the case being continued until next Friday.

When Wisher appeared at the home of Constable Taylor he said that he had ridden from North Adams on a passenger train and had had trouble with the conductor and this was the principal reason for the constable's taking him in custody.. Yesterday morning the constable endeavored to learn if this was true, but could not find any conductors who had had any trouble.

REGIMENTS' REUNION.

The Q37th Satisfied With the Arrangements and Making Further Arrangements.

W. L. Crosier, a member of the 49th regiment, which is one of the regiments that will have a reunion in Williamstown September 19, has received a letter from James L. Bowen of Springfield, secretary of the 37th regiment, stating that the arrangement for the 19th of September will doubtless be agreeable to the 37th. Mr. Bowen stated that he was now in communication with the members of the executive committee in regard to the matter and that he would write more fully when he received its final decision.

The special meeting of E. P. Hopkins' post Monday night is for the purpose of making arrangements for the affair and a part of the business will be the appointment of a general committee of arrangements, the chairman of which will be a prominent member of one of the regiments and a member of the post. This committee will be given the power to go ahead with the arrangements, which will later be ratified by the post. Because of the importance of the meeting, Commander Walker wishes every member of the post to be present if it is possible for him to do so.

FELLED BY A STONE.

Linden Street Woman Badly Injured by a Stone Thrown by a Malicious Boy.

Mrs. Rose Patten of Linden street was injured Thursday night by a stone thrown by a boy who had been hanging about the house throwing stones against it. She heard the stones striking the house and fearing that the windows would be broken stepped to the front door and requested the boy or boys to leave the premises and stop throwing stones. While she was standing in the door a stone struck her just over the eye and she fell unconscious.

Help happened to be near and she was picked up and carried into the house where it was found that she had received a bad injury. She regained consciousness in a very few minutes but her eye began to swell and was soon in a serious condition. The boy who threw the stone made his escape and his identity was not learned.

Residents of this part of the town say that this is not the first case of boys endangering the safety of people by throwing stones and much trouble has been experienced by their breaking windows

WHEREABOUTS OF EATON BOY ASCERTAINED.

P. W. Eaton received a telegram last night which gave him information concerning the whereabouts of his son Earl, one of the boys who went away from home Saturday, and Mr. Eaton feels much relieved to know that his son has met with no harm. The telegram came from a friend who learned where the boy was, but it made no mention of the other boys. It is supposed, however, that they are with the Eaton boy.

Mr. Eaton did not care to say last night where his son had been located, but said that it was not a very great distance from Williamstown. He will go to the place at once to find him.

Lunch was taken and a general good time was had, the children attending having a delightful time, as well as the older ones.

TheCrosier family are spending the season at the Spiritualist camp meeting at Lake Pleasant.

The teachers, who attended the summer school at Bennintgon all arrived home last Saturday night. They seemed well pleased with the school, and think it profitable for those intending to teach to attend these schools. The summer school this summer had as proficient instructors as any ever held in this county, and perhaps in the state.

We understand that Miss Hattie Davis will teach in District No. 9, Whitingham, this fall.

Fred Wheeler has the cellar nearly completed for his new house on High street, there has been much done for a town of the size of Readsboro this summer in the way of building, and new tenement houses are and will be more in demand than ever if the additions talked of are constructed.

As announced in a previous issue of the Transcript an effort has been made to institute a Universalist church in Readsboro. A temporary preamble and resolutions were adopted last week, and last Sunday morning Rev and Mrs. Wright were present and conducted the services.. An eloquent sermon was delivered by Rev. Mr. Wright, the text being "Follow Me." In his discourse he interwove the likeness to his text, and to the building of a church in Readsboro, in the latter part of his discourse calling for membership, which was responded to by raising of hands, and those present expressing by this a resolution to become members if a church was built. $650 were raised at the morning service, and in the evening over the $1000 mark was reached. The outlook is at this writing encouraging. The officers will probably be chosen in the near future, and a thorough canvass is being made to secure as many pledges as possible. The outside helpers in several instances have expressed a willingness to contribute to the cause, and several have given encouragement of memorial windows.

A BLACKSMITH'S STORY

He Tells What May Happen to a Strong Man With Hard Muscles

"Up to the spring of 1898" he says, "I was all right, and swung my big sledge as I would a tack hammer. Then I began to be out of sorts. After every meal I had pain and distress, and I began to lose weight and strength.

"One day a man came along to have his horse shod and I told him how I felt. He said I ought to try the new medicine named Calcura Solvent, discovered by Dr. David Kennedy.

"Well, I got a bottle the next day. When I had used three bottles I could eat with no trouble to follow. Then I picked up my strength and have kept right along with my work ever since. My stomach and liver are all right, and a heart trouble that used to bother me—with short breath—that is gone too."

Health and hard muscles are not always found together. Athletes are likely to be weak in the stomach liver, kidneys and heart. A man may lift 500 pounds and drop dead the next minute. Look out for your digestion and your general health, and let your strength take care of itself.

If your druggist is out of Calcura Solvent, send $1 to Dr. David Kennedy. Kennedy Row, Kingston, N. Y., express prepaid. Write for free sample bottle.

NOTES OF THE RAILWAYS

Illinois Central's Entire Right of Way to Be Lighted.

GIGANTIC TRANSALASKAN LINE.

French, Russian and American Capitalists Reported Behind Great Railway Project—Ferry to Span Bering Sea—New Rules For New York Central's Tunnel.

The entire right of way of the Illinois Central railroad in Chicago and as far into the suburban districts as Matteson, 28 miles from the Park Row station, will soon be lighted at night so that the roadway will be almost as light as day, says the New York Post. The company has just finished building a big electric plant for the purpose, and its capacity is sufficient to furnish power for lighting all the tracks, stations and yards for a distance of 30 miles. The plant is said to be one of the largest and most complete in the country. The wires for the lighting are laid in cables in stoneware conduits underground. So far 16,270 feet of this underground conduit has been laid. This will furnish light for the big station at Twelfth street and other stations and the right of way between Randolph street and Burnside. All stations will be illuminated with incandescent lamps and the platforms and tracks with arc lights.

In addition to the illumination of stations and right of way the various freight houses down and up town and the express warehouses and the shops of the company will be lighted. So far the wired capacity of the substitution is 7,000 16 candle power incandescent lamps and 200 arc lights. Power will also be furnished to operate the company's laundry, for running the three big passenger elevators in the Park Row station and for charging storage batteries of private cars. At present the power plant is taxed only to about 50 per cent of its capacity. It is said that when operated to its full strength there will be 14,000 incandescents and 500 arc lights in use between Randolph street and Matteson, making this the best lighted right of way in the world.

A gigantic transalaskan project is to be undertaken by French, Russian and American capitalists within the next few years, according to plans outlined the other day by L. Delobel, the French mining engineer, who left Paris July 13 and started north on the steamer Dolphin.

Delobel says, according to a dispatch from Tacoma to the St. Louis Republic, that plans are being formed to organize a company having a capital stock of $200,000,000. This company will build nearly 4,000 miles of railroad besides spanning Bering sea with immense steam ferries. The company is to have the backing of influential bankers in Paris, St. Petersburg, Moscow and New York. The United States government will be asked for a land grant in the Yukon country. On his return from Alaska Delobel will visit Washington and confer with President McKinley on the subject.

The proposed railroad is to start in Circle City and run 2,000 miles to Bering sea, following a northerly course which will evade low lands in the Yukon estuary. From the Siberian coast to Vladivostok 1,800 miles of road will be required. The ferries are to be large enough to transport loaded trains, making it possible to go from Circle City to Moscow and Paris by railroad.

Since the grand jury began investigating the Park avenue tunnel the New York Central railroad officials have been unusually active, and sweeping orders have been issued to the conductors and trainmen to do everything in their power to relieve the bad conditions while the trains are passing through the subway, says a White Plains (N. Y.) dispatch to the New York Sun. The Harlem railroad has issued a notice through Trainmaster Van Tassel which now keeps the trainmen busy and means an improvement in their service for the benefit of the commuters. Among its many provisions are the following: "Special attention must be given to ventilation. While cars are standing in Grand Central station windows must be opened and gas turned down to lowest point. Gas when used in tunnel must be at half pressure only. Coach doors must be opened immediately upon emerging from tunnel. Trains using main tunnel need not have windows closed if free from gas and smoke. Ventilators need not be closed."

Washington Snow, an engineer on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, figures that in the 38 years in which he has been running engines on that road, at an average of 36,000 miles a year, he has traveled 1,468,000 miles.

The Lackawanna railroad is stringing telephone wires from stations to the houses of engineers, firemen, brakemen and conductors who reside over one mile from stations in order to be able to summon them without delay in case of need.

Roman Baths Found In Scotland.

Wherever the Romans penetrated they were sure to erect great baths. Recent excavations on an estate in Scotland have revealed the foundations of an immense bath with concrete floors and walls, lead pipe connections, arched fire chamber and stokehole with a flue extending from it, says The Architect. The foundations of the piers in the arched fire chamber are now displaced. The walls of the rooms are formed of stone and lime, covered with strong concrete, with a polished surface, and painted a brick red color. The floors are all of concrete.

A New Use For Petroleum.

New uses are constantly being found for petroleum. The park commissioners in San Francisco have been using it to sprinkle their park roads. It lays the dust effectually and permanently and when put on hot combines with other road material to form a cement, says E. S. Martin in Harper's Weekly. The same use is made of it in some parts of the south, where, as in California, new discoveries of oil wells have made petroleum abundant and extremely cheap in price.

Over 100 Drops
of the very best bicycle oil for a cent

That certainly proves that it's cheap. And the testimony of thousands of riders prove that it is good. Prove that it is the very best. There's no other oil just like it, and there's no other oil half so good. A little bit will last a long time, and lubricate thoroughly any of the bearings. No grease or acid in it. Will not thicken or will not gum. Neither will it collect dust or dirt. Preserves the bearings, too. Applied to any metal surface, it will prevent rust and tarnish. Rub it on your wheel just before a ride in rain or mud. That's a test that tells. Certain bicycle manufacturers put it in the tool bag of every wheel they make. Racing men, century riders, wheel clubs, ad dealers, are all loud in its praise.

Why don't you try it?

Ask your dealer for "the big bottle at the little price."

The Potato Famine.

In the home there's lamentation
O'er the fearful elevation
In the price of tubers that so long were low;
For each day they're scarcer getting,
And the purchasers are fretting
At the inroads being made upon their "dough."

Though some months ago a dollar
Would a barrel of them collar,
We are now compelled to cough up five or six,
And unless relief is nearing
Us at rapid gait we're fearing
We shall soon be in a bad financial fix.

In the hasheries there's growling,
And proprietors are scowling
When the hungry patrons for potatoes call,
For with taters so expensive
There's a feeling apprehensive
That one dish of them knocks profits out of all.

And as long has been the practice
When the prices high distract us
And especially when cost of food we feel,
'Tis the viand that is dearest
On which there is run severest,
So now tubers are desired at every meal

If prices keep on rising,
'Twill not be the least surprising
If potato dealers give us further shocks,
For instead of bushels selling
Customers they may be telling
That the biggest measure is a berry box.

Where 'twill end just baffles guessing
And 'tis really distressing
When we think of taters going up so high;
Wealthy icemen we're forgetting,
And sincerely we're regretting
We're not those from whom potatoes we now buy.

PLAN IN OPERATION.

Merchants Rebate Stamp Association Finds Favor Among Local Merchants

The agent of the Merchants Rebate Stamp association canvassed among local merchants and has been successful in securing enough patrons to put the plan in operation. The scheme is very much like the old trading stamp scheme which was in operation here some years ago but which was abolished by law. The association asks its patrons not to mistake the plan for the old trading stamp system which required a collection of $99.00 worth of stamps before receiving a premium, as under the new system, only $60.00 worth of stamps are to be collected.

The association did not find favor in North Adams and the plan could not be operated. However some of the leading local merchants belong to the association and the result of the operation will be watched with interest by those who did not join.

SURPRISE PARTIES HELD

There was a pleasant gathering of friends and relatives at the home of Miss Elvina Sincere Friday evening, the occasion being her birthday. The young lady did not expect the call and was completely surprised. During the evening Henry Brodeur played several cornet selections with piano accompaniments by Mrs. Brodeur. Others of the guests contributed to the informal program with songs and instrumental selections and a delightful party resulted. Miss Sincere was presented with a handsome banquet lamp as a souvenir of the event.

A party of young friends surprised Miss Bessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hiser at her home on Pine street Friday evening. A fine program of songs and recitations was carried out, refreshments were served and all had a good time.

RENFREW BOYS IN CAMP.

Andrew G. Scott, Thomas Chalmers and Thomas O. Morton of Renfrew, left last week and have not been seen by their relatives since. They intimated that they were going to camp out for a week and took with them a sufficient quantity of supplies. The parents of the boys took the matter as a good joke and expected to see the youngsters home after the first night, telling strange stories of weird and blood curdling, nocturnal noises. However the boys are still in camp and when seen Friday, said they were having a fine time and would not return until Monday. They are in camping in East Cheshire and although they have not been alarmed by seeing bears, still they have seen big game. On Wednesday they saw a doe with a pair of handsome well grown fawns following her across a large meadow.

TURNERS WILL BUILD HALL.

Some few weeks ago the Turn Verein Vorwaerts club which has quarters and meets in Hermann hall on Spring street, purchased a piece of land from J. W. Richmond, off North Summer street. The purchase was made with a view to some time in the future, erecting a turn hall and club house. The club would not say how soon it expected to be able to erect the building but it might build next year. At present there is a small structure, newly erected on the land where the men dress and then practice on the horizontal bars and other out-door apparatus, which have been put in place.

A COON PARTY.

A "Coon" party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fairfield in postoffice square Friday evening and it proved to be very pleasant The party was arranged for a number of young people, who with blackened faces and finery, congregated to have a good time. The features of the evening were a cake walk, songs, "mammy's Pickininny" and "Goo Goo Eyes," a jig, selections by "Soo-Sees" band and the Darktown quartet and specialties by Miss Virginia The parents of the young people proved an appreciative audience and gave deserved applause. Refreshments were served and the troupe disbanded until further engagements may be had.

ANOTHER REDUCTION IN TAX RATE.

Clerk Spaulding of the fire district announced Friday that the various figures had all been completed and that the water tax rate would be $1.50. This is the second time that the assessors have had pleasing announcements to make to the taxpayers and it is the second notification of a reduction in taxes. Last year the rate was $2.70 which is $1.20 more than this year. It has been some years since the rate was as low as for this year. Both reductions mean a big saving for the taxpayers and they no doubt appreciate it.

Some of his admirers believe he can trot in 2.10 or better.

Mysterious Horse Disease

Mexican City, Aug. 8.—American horses which have recently been purchased in considerable numbers by the government for the army, through apparently in perfect condition on arrival, have, many of them, been attacked by a disease which first makes its appearance in the form of a worm in the nostril. The first symptoms are restlessness and indifference to food, followed by convulsions and death. The war department will have a commission to ascertain whether the horses have contracted it here or were infected in the United States.

CEDRON FOR YELLOW FEVER

Assistant Surgeon Hodgson Believes He Has Found a Specific.

Acting Assistant Surgeon S. Hodgson of the marine hospital service believes he has discovered a valuable remedy to be used in yellow fever cases, says a Washington despatch to the New York Sun. Dr. Hodgson has been stationed at Progreso, Mexico, for two years and has made a thorough examination of yellow fever cases there.

In a letter to Surgeon General Wyman of the marine hospital service he calls attention to the fact that, while valuable work has been done in China in demonstrating beyond question that yellow fever can be and is transmitted by the mosquito, another insect, more pestiferous, which may be quite as active an agency in spreading this disease as the mosquito, has been entirely overlooked, namely, the cimex or bedbug.

"In the tropics," Dr. Hodgson says, "the bedbug is all pervading, and his stealthy movements are more liable to accomplish the desired end than the buzzing mosquito.

"Among the remedies used in Central and South America as an antidote for the stings of insects and bites of snakes the seed of the bean of cedron has been found to be a specific. A tincture is made from the grated or mashed seed, and it is also made into a fluid extract. I made a tincture from the bean and used it as an antidote for the stings of insects and the bite of a snake and found that the action was almost immediate and the relief complete. The antitoxic properties of this remedy were so great that I thought it might be of some benefit in yellow fever and had opportunities to try it in several cases of that disease, and from the results concluded it is as specific for yellow fever as quinine is for malaria."

Dr. Hodgson says that the cases he treated were in Costa Rica, when he was government physician at Jiminez, and, while he kept no notes of the cases, every one treated with the tincture of cedron recovered. He used the tincture by hypodermic injections of about 20 minims three times a day.

NEW LIGHT ON INSANITY.

Frank Howard Collier's Brain Unsettles Scientists.

That the peculiar insanity of the late Frank Howard Collier of Chicago resulted from a blow received on the head from supposedly political antagonists several years ago was practically decided the other day by several physicians, who removed his brain for the purpose of a careful examination.

The discovery is of special interest from the fact that it has been an accepted theory among medical men that the kind of insanity from which Collier suffered, technically known as circular insanity, never occurred except as a result of hereditary taint. If the conclusions reached after the first investigation prove correct, this theory will have to be abandoned.

A section of the forehead several inches square was removed and the brain taken out. An examination showed that there was an exostosis, or bony growth, on the inner table of the skull, to which the membranes and frontal lobes of the brain adhered. The growth was an inch and a half long and an inch wide, and the points, which were sharp, protruded nearly a quarter of an inch.

The exostosis, which was not directly under the part of the skull where Collier had been struck, is believed to have been caused by the inflamed condition of the skull and brain membrane around the wound.

The size of Collier's brain was remarkable and gave evidence of the immense intellectual strength which he once possessed. A year ago Collier's skull was trepanned, but the operation showed nothing. The incision, as was disclosed today, had been made a little to one side of where the exostosis existed.

The popularity of pewter is extraordinary, says The Lady's Pictorial. Every bride is clamoring for it when asked what she would like for a present, and secondhand shops are being ransacked for specimens. At a wedding the other day no less than 50 pewter offerings were made, some of which had been unearthed in Germany and were absolutely beautiful.

FOUNDATIONAL PROFITS...

We are forming an association at absolute foundation, to organize an exploration and development parent company.

Mining and oil companies' stock usually cost the actual cash investor from ten to many hundreds of times as much per share as the promoters pay for their stock.

Even with this handicap, some mining and oil stocks actually pay remarkable dividends to the real cash investors.

The great profits in such enterprises are in discovering, buying or developing of a prospect, and in making of that prospect a proven mine or oil producer which can be operated as a business enterprise, or can be sold for very many times its cost to the explorers or developers.

A story that could be almost duplicated in many instances is told of how a prospector sold a claim for a very trifling amount. The second owner sold it for $400. The third sold it for $75,000, and the present holders value it at $1,000,000; but all of these transactions took place within about one year

Well-directed exploration expert and development work often demonstrate values amounting to hundreds of times their cost.

The great disadvantage to most mining companies results from methods of promoting described in our circular, and methods which this proposed company seeks to avoid.

No swindling contracts or promoters' reservations are contemplated or contained in this enterprise.

We ask you to unite with us in organizing a parent company which intends to explore, expert, develop and operate mining properties or similar enterprises. We invite you to join with us in being your own promoter.

Officers will be elected by the actual cash investors, as soon as sufficient capital is conditionally subscribed to justify the organization.

We intend to do our exploring, expert and development work in a thoroughly honorable manner, and that the stock of sub-companies promoted by this proposed parent-company shall have a foundation of proven values.

Even if you do not expect to invest in this proposed company, but if you own mineral properties, or are interested, send for our preliminary circular. Address,

JOSHUA T. HOWELL,
Secretary pro tem,
53 State Street, Boston, Mass.

Police Court Occupied With Sad Stories of Boys and Girls

CASE OF GERTRUDE ANDREWS

Mother Follows Stepfather to This City to Rescue Daughter. Police Find That Alleged Stubbornness Was Really Neglect

More business in connection with last Sunday's raid came up before the police court this morning. Mrs. Delavan Gardner appeared with her two daughters, Stella and Maud, who were charged with drunkenness, Stella's case being continued from last Monday. After hearing the testimony of Mrs. Gardner regarding the ocupation and character of the girls, Judge Phelps placed them on probation until September 10 on their good behavior.

Turning to Mrs. Gardner he warned her that if further reports of disorder came from her house the police would make serious trouble for her.

There were also further developments in the case of Gertie Andrews, arrested at the Gardner house Sunday morning. Mrs. Bellows, her mother, came from Bennington this morning to see if she could get her daughter committed to some institution. The efforts of Mr. Bellows were reported in yesterday's Transcript.

Mrs. Bellows was examined by Judge Phelps and the state agent, and said that in spite of Gertie's assertion that she was 18 years old her real age is 15. She said that Gertie was not turned out of the house by her stepfather, Mr. Bellows, but left last May of her own accord because she did not care to conform to the restraints placed upon her. She had secured work in Bennington, but ran away and came to North Adams with Hattie Pratt and others arrested at the house of Mrs. Gardner. Mrs. Bellows claims that Hattie Pratt had a bad influence over her daughter ever since they became acquainted, and thinks that if Gertie can be kept from associating with her, she may reform.

Judge Phelps suggested that Mrs. Bellows should make an attempt to get the girl to go home and live with her parents and if she refused have her arrested on the charge of stubbornness. The state agent knew of an institution in Springfield where the girl would be taken care of until she is 21 on the request of her parents. Nothing definite can be done until the girl is released from jail, where she is serving an 8 day sentence in default of a $5 fine.

The state agent was in court in connection with the case of Charles Adams, the 10 year old boy who was charged with stubborness on complaint of his father. Chief Linneen has been investigating the case since the boy was arrested, and in course of the examination it developed that the father had run away from his wife before the boy was born and had not seen his son until he was eight years old, in the meantime making no effort to support the family. The boy's mother is now dead and he has been living with his father and aunt, and investigation showed he had met with harsh treatment. He ran away from his father twice, and went to live with another aunt, but was brought back again and as a result of his last absence from home was arrested for stubbornness. The police say that when he was found he had a large bruise on his eye where he had been struck, and that he showed evidence of having passed the night out of doors. The boy was found not guilty of stubbornness and discharged. On the charge of being a neglected child he was committed to the care of the state association of charities. He left for Springfield today where he will be taken care of.

Two cases of drunkenness were disposed of one being placed on file and the other offender being fined $6.

The civil case of Korni Levinson vs. C. Lapond occupied the remainder of the session. No decision was rendered.

Only one civil case was entered at the clerk of courts office this morning It is an action of contract, P. J. Ashe suing Mina E. Cleveland for $53.

CLOSE OF THE FESTIVAL

Large Attendance on St. Francis Lawn Last Evening

The St. Francis lawn festival came to a close last evening after having furnished two evenings of enjoyment to a very large number of people, many showing their appreciation by coming both evenings, so that the attendance on the second evening nearly equalled that of the first. As has been stated, the object was to establish a fund for the benefit of the orphans and the way in which the people responded to the appeal for help in this charitable work must be a source of much gratification to those in charge. The zeal which Rev M. J. McKenna, general director, and his assistants infused into the work could not fail of success and that they were successful was reflected in the very evident pleasure of attendants and in the fact that the long desired fund has been put upon a substantial basis.

Last evening, as on the previous evening, all facilities were made the most of, the refreshment tables and other stands being liberally patronized.

The Ideal orchestra played throughout the evening very acceptably and at intervals songs were rendered by W. F. Smith, James Collins, John Merritt, William Cummings of this city and Daniel Kiley of Adams. The weather was most agreeable and everything conspired to increase the pleasure of the event.

Those who were in charge of the tables for the festival were as follows:

Supply table—Mrs. Donnelly and Miss Riley.

Refreshment tables:

Table 1—Miss Nora O'Brien, Miss Alice Cavanaugh, Miss Fannie Burke, Miss Maty Davine.

Table 2—Miss Bridget Maher, Miss Alice Hynes, Miss Lizzie Dooley, Miss Harriett Dolan.

Table 3—Mrs. John Reagan, Miss Delia Higgins, Miss Lizzie Gorry.

Table 4—Mrs. J. F. Coughlin, Mrs. Dempsey, Miss Mary Broderick.

Table 5—Mrs. George Fagan, Mrs. Margaret Foley, Miss Margaret Meade

Table 6—Mrs. P. H. Gunning, Mrs. Thomas Haggerty, Miss Margaret Sherry, Miss Sullivan.

Candy table—Miss Catherine Gorman, Miss Cassie Murphy, Miss Annie Cassidy, Miss Lizzie Hatton.

Lottery table—Miss Annie McCarthy Miss Mary Cronin, Miss Mary Callahan, Miss Minnie Hatton.

Flower table—Miss Anna Foley, Miss Katie Ryan, Miss Mary Barden, Miss Loretta Lynch, Miss Sadie Fox, Miss Celia Bradley.

The ice cream was served by Michael Flaherty and Edward Farrell. Each evening those in charge of the tables were assisted by 12 members of Division 10 and 12 from Division4, A. O. H.

Financially the affair was one of the most successful ever held on St. Francis' lawn.

Officers Elected at Closing Session. Pledging of Youths

At yesterday's session of the convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of America at Hartford, at which this city is represented, various matters of business were disposed of in preparation for final adjournment. Gibbons, Chicago; Mrs. L. M. Lake, St. Louis; treasurer, Rev. J. J. Curran, Wilksbarre; secretary, Rev. A. P. Doyle New York.

Resolutions were adopted reaffirming belief in total abstinence as the best remedy for the evils of intemperance, urging that where practicable the union work hand in hand with non-Catholic associations against the common enemy, and condemning the pactice of treating. The organization of children's societies for temperance work and the practice of pledging youths at the time of first holy communion or confirmation were approved.

A cablegram from Cardinal Rampolla was read to the convention. It accepted the filial greetings of the union and extended the blessings requested in behalf if the pope

Death of Prominent Pittsfield Man

William H. Chamberlin, 60 years old, died in his home in Pittsfield yesterday afternoon. Mr. Chamberlin had been ill with heart trouble since last week Wednesday, when he was suddenly stricken in his home, and it was thought he would not survive the following night. But he rallied only for a short time, and his physician, Dr. William L. Paddock, gave out no encouragement for his recovery. Mr. Chamberlin was sitting up in bed when he died.

Mr. Chamberlin was a native of Coltsville, and was born in May, 1841, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Chamberlin. Mr. Chamberlin, Sr., was the postmaster and storekeeper in the store in Cranesville, now owned by Smith & Wright. When W. H. Chamberlin was a boy his father moved to Belvidere, Ill., where he engaged in Farming. The young man attended the public schools in that town and when 19 years old he enlisted in G Co, 36th Illinois infantry.

He had been in the employ of the Cranes in Dalton for some years.

He was prominent in the religious and Masonic life of Pittsfield. He was a 32-degree Mason and a member of Crescent lodge, Berkshire chapter, Berkshire council, Berkshire commandery, Knights Templar and the Boston consistory. He was one of the most prominent members of the Methodist church in Pittsfield and was very largely interested in the Y. M. C. A., having been its president for the past four years, and a member of the board of directors for a longer time.

TRAPPED BY DAVENPORT

How Judge Stevens Was Fooled by the Newspaper Cartoonist

The Boston Herald is responsible for the following anecdote:

Judge William B. Stevens of Massachusetts, who came into unsought prominence by excluding from the court room during the Fosburgh manslaughter trial the representatives of certain New York newspapers, had an experience with Homer Davenport, who was dispatched by his paper to the scene of the trial.

Davenport arrived in Pittsfield in the early afternoon and immediately sought by strategy to gain admission where his confrers had been barred. But it was not to be. He discovered to his dismay that it is no easy task to fool the courts of Massachusetts, but as he was due in New York that same night, and must get a good view of the judge in the meantime, something had to be done.

Judge Stevens had quarters in the Maplewood hotel, and thither hied the cartoonist. He sent up his card, and was received very affably by the distinguished jurist, who desired to know in what way it might be his pleasure to serve him.

"It is my pleasure to get a sketch of your honor," said Homer, and it would expedite matters greatly and oblige me much if you would kindly pose while the job is being done."

"Oh ,no! no!" said the judge, throwing up his hands, "I couldn't have any thing like that, It's entirely out of the question, I'm much obliged to you Mr. Davenport, but I have no ambition to see my face in the paper."

"Well," drawled the artist, in his characteristic way, "just as you like. But you see I was sent down here by my chief to get a sketch of Judge Stevens. When I return tonight he will summon me to his presence, and there will be a conversation something like this:

"'No, sir, I couldn't get into the court room.'

"'What did you do then?'

"'Called on the judge at his hotel. He refused to pose.'

"'But you saw him didn't you?'

"'Oh yes, I saw him all right.'

"'Then go ahead and make a picture.'

"What the result will be," concluded Davenport, after a pause, "perhaps your honor can imagine."

"Oh," ejaculated the judge, reflectively, "yes, yes; I hadn't thought of that. Yes, that's true. How long will it take?"

And a minute later he was posing patiently for what turned out to be an excellent character study of a very expressive face.
